THE HAVERHILL EMERSONS

INTRODUCTORY

TWO men of this surname, Michael and Robert Emerson or Emmerson, whom we know to have been brothers, appeared in the town of Haverhill very early in its history; the imperfect records do not show when they arrived in this country or whether they had a residence in any other plantation before making their home in Haverhill. Thomas Emerson, or "Emberson" as he signed himself in the deed to his son John in 1648, was one of the very earliest settlers of Ipswich, close by (a town, in fact, from which many of the founders of Haverhill came); and it is not at all unlikely that Michael and Robert may have been related to Thomas and either come over with him or joined him afterward and spent some years in Ipswich. Michael married an Ipswich girl, Robert one from Rowley, near by; but neither of them left traces of residing at the place where he found a bride. The fact that all the pioneers of Massachusetts were from England except a very small number who were uniformly specified in the records of the time as from some other country, and the abundant evidences of English traits and characteristics, make it entirely certain that the Haverhill and the Ipswich Emersons were natives and recent residents of England.

Two books have been issued that treat of this subject: "The English Emersons," by Dr. Peter Henry Emerson, and "The Ipswich Emersons" by Prof. Benjamin Kendall Emerson and Capt. George A. Gordon—large, expensive works. The former presents vast numbers of abstracts of wills, records of Chancery proceedings, investigations after death into estates, etc., etc., and many brief sketches of families and individuals in various parts of Great Britain; shows many a coat of arms and other symbol; and also gives details of the ancestry and life of the writer who is a descendant of Thomas Emerson of Ipswich, born in Cuba, educated in and chiefly a resident of England. The conclusion of his researches is that Thomas Emerson of Ipswich was born at Bishop's Stortford in the county of Hertford, a little way from London, England, and spent some years there; and records of baptisms of children there, whose names are identical with Thomas' known children, are presented. Dr. Emerson failed to get copies of records at Bishop's Stortford for the years after the baptisms mentioned, or abstracts of wills or other documents which might show positively whether the persons concerned remained there, or whether Emasons of the parish that did remain mentioned the departure of some to America. This omission is serious, and the case is not absolutely settled until such investigation is made and reported. Dr. Emerson, however, was so far satisfied with the records found that he paid a large reward to Mr. Briggs who discovered them; and Prof. B. K. Emerson has adopted the solution of the problem offered by Dr. Emerson and gives it as a settled fact in "The Ipswich Emasons."

One matter is very definitely interesting to us in studying the origin of the Haverhill men of this name, namely, the claim made by Prof. B. K. Emerson that Robert Emerson of Haverhill was the eldest son of Thomas Emerson of Ipswich! This cannot be correct, for Thomas was in Ipswich as early as 1638, perhaps two or three years earlier; never referred in any way to Robert; had a son John old enough to receive a deed of land and enter into a business covenant to maintain his parents, in the year 1648; while Robert did not appear here till much later, so far as any record goes, and was married, apparently for the first time, in 1658; at no time does Robert give any token of having had wife or child before, nor allude to the Ipswich Emasons; and he is always mentioned second when his name and Michael's are coupled; indicating that he was the younger of the two. Michael, moreover, lived until the year 1715, thus giving reason for the belief that he was not born earlier than 1625, and Robert, by all tokens here, must have been born several years later.

The claim made in "The Ipswich Emersons" that Robert of Haverhill was the eldest son of Thomas and a native of Bishop's Stortford, was therefore a baseless and thoroughly improbable guess, which ought never to have been printed. While it may be yet discovered that Michael and Robert were natives of that parish and nearly related to Thomas of Ipswich, it is not right to assert as a fact what was only an assumption in the beginning and would have been seen to be impossible had a brief amount of investigation been given to Robert's record here.

The Bishop's Stortford family is well worth studying, in connection with the Haverhill Emersons, because its first positively known representative, Robert Emberson or Emerson, was a "currier," a trade akin to that of Michael who was a shoemaker; the name Michael has not been found yet at Stortford by the searchers employed there; Michael and Robert might have been sons of Robert's son John. We present the following copies of what the two books give on this point, that our readers may see and judge for themselves.

1. "ROBERT EMERSON" married at Bishop's Stortford Nov. 24, 1578, Susan Crabb. She was buried Nov. 20, 1626, aged 70. He was buried Jan. 6, 1620-1. His will, dated Nov. 7, 1620, proved Jan. 23, 1620-1, is headed, "I, Robert Emberson of Stortford in County Herts currier, being aged and sickly"; to wife Susan lands in S. called Muggells Dale, containing about 12 acres, near a field called Woodfeild, to hold for her life with remainder after her death to Thomas Emberson, my eldest son; I give her also the messuage wherein I now dwell for the term of fifty years; afterward the same to go to Margaret my daughter now the wife of Thomas Browne of Southwarke for 50 years; after her decease to James Browne her son for all the term of years then to come. The residue of my goods to the said Susan for her life, and after her death to my four children Thomas, John, Anne and Margaret. (Com. Ct. of London.)

Children, bapt. at Bishop's Stortford:

- i. Alice, bapt. Nov. 22, 1579.
- ii. Margaret, bapt. Feb. 21, 1581-2.

2. iii. Thomas, bapt. July 26, 1584.
- iv. John, mentioned in father's will.
- v. Anne, mentioned in father's will.
- vi. Robert, bapt. Apr. 12, 1596; not ment. in fa.'s will.

2. THOMAS² (Robert¹) married July 1, 1611, Elizabeth Brewster. Mentioned in parish records of Bishop's Stortford as a collector for the poor in the year 1636. This man is claimed as the Ipswich, Mass., pioneer.

Children recorded at S.:

- i. Robert, bapt. May 24, 1612; m. at S. Oct. 22, 1635, Elizabeth Grave; had ch. Elizabeth, bapt. Dec. 3, 1637; was recorded at S. as giving 4d to the poor in 1642.
- ii. Benjamin, bapt. Oct. 2, bur. Oct. 27, 1614.
- iii. Ralfe, bapt. Oct. 19, 1615; bur. June 8, 1626.
- iv. James, bapt. Feb. 16, 1617.
- v. Joseph, bapt. June 25, 1620.
- vi. Elizabeth, bapt. June 14, 1623.
- vii. John, bapt. Feb. 26, 1625.
- viii. Nathaniel, bapt. July 18, 1630.
- ix. Susan, bapt. Mar. 17, 1632.

There is something very interesting if not convincing in the fact that the list of the Stortford Thomas' children contains the same name of the wife and six names of children the same as those known to be children of Thomas of Ipswich, namely Elizabeth, James, Joseph, John, Nathaniel and Susan, and that the dates of their baptisms correspond in general with those believed to be the birth-dates of these Ipswich children. It is strange that we have no positive record here in New England of the ages of these persons, excepting Nathaniel, particularly as Joseph and John became ministers of some distinction; but neither Thomas nor either of those sons here (with the solitary exception of Nathaniel) left a statement of his age in any court testimony, as was often done in those days; so that there is no absolute test which may be applied to the comparison of the Stortford family with the Ipswich family. But the mention of four sons and two daughters, with the approximation to the ages commonly accepted here of the Ipswich family, certainly stands as very strong presumptive evidence that they are identical, and that the Massachusetts baker was the son of the Stortford currier.

But so far as the Haverhill Emersons are concerned there is nothing in these Stortford records that solves the problem of their origin. There are, however, many places in England where records show that the name Michael Emerson was common in that period, and often associated with both Robert and Thomas; and the spelling Emmerson and Emberson are frequent there; and some one of those places may have been the cradle of the Haverhill family. Sereby, in the county of Lincoln, was one of them; and the following will, given first by Mr. Henry F. Waters and afterward by Dr. Emerson, deserves to be followed out by any who investigate this problem.

Alexander Emerson of Sereby in the county of Lincoln, yeoman, made will 10 April, 1604, proved 10 February, 1605. Lands in Sereby, Howsam, Cadney and Glamford Briggess (all in Lincolnshire and not far easterly from Scrooby whence the Mayflower party came); bequests to wife, sons Michael, Robert, Thomas, James and John; deceased son George. (Pr. Ct. of Cant., Stafford, 8.)

Dr. Emerson has brought out in "The English Emersons" many wills of persons connected with this family, and none of them offers any evidence that members of the clan had come to America; but the ground has not yet been completely explored. There is a good field for research upon this problem.

Before the coming of Emersons to Massachusetts there had been some arriving in Virginia. William Emerson came over as a partner of John Davies in 1618 and was living at Jordan's Jorney February 16, 1623. Ellis Emerson with wife Ann and son Thomas, aged 11 years, came in "The George" in 1623, and was living at Martin's Hundred. Whether they left descendants or not is unknown to the writer.

John Emerson (the name abbreviated as "Jo:") came to Boston in "The Abigail" in 1635; the only note in Hotten regarding him is his age, — “20.” He settled at Scituate and married a daughter of Rev. John Lothrop; then disappeared from our records. It has been asserted that he was called “baker” in Hotten’s list of passengers; but this is incorrect.

A matter of considerable interest to some persons is the question whether the Massachusetts Emersons were entitled to bear a “coat of arms.” We have seen that Thomas called himself “baker” in the deed wherein he conveyed property to his son John and made conditions to which he alluded in his will; so that the ignorant person who carved a coat of arms on the gravestone of Thomas’ youngest son, Nathaniel, made a silly blunder. The Haverhill Emersons were also “yeomen,” as Thomas and his family called themselves; so that no descendant of either of the Massachusetts Emerson families has the slightest reason for using any coat of arms as from Emerson ancestry.

It is the glory of New England that her founders were, with a very small number of exceptions, scions of the middle class, the real honor and strength of England, diligent workers in useful avocations, whose lives were filled with loving service for God and humanity. They cared more for helping hands than for empty “arms.”

FIRST GENERATION

FIRST GENERATION

1. MICHAEL EMERSON, born in England at a date not recorded here, but probably as early as 1625, is mentioned first in this country in any record yet found, on "the last day of the first month" (March) "1651," in a "Presentment," as a witness who might be called in a case reported by the Grand Jury of Essex County court. His residence is not mentioned. The next item is in the records of the town of Haverhill, March 3, 1655, when he received from the town one of the allotments of land that were made to inhabitants:

"Voted and granted that Michael Emerson shall have two cow commons and four acres of meadow to be laid out after the second division of meadow is all laid out."

These "cow commons" he was allowed to exchange for two ox commons in 1661. The grant shows that he was a resident of the town and had two cows at that date.

He was one of those who had a share in certain meadow lands which the town gave out to inhabitants a little later.

"January 17, 1658. Michaell Emerson's third division of meadow being a quarter of an acre, shall be laid out together with his four acres of meadow which was formerly granted to him."

He also had a portion in the fourth division of meadow, February 28, 1661.

Meantime he and his brother Robert had made a purchase of a farm in the southwestern part of the town. The deed was dated January 6, 1662; the price was eighty-five pounds, and the condition that they should "pay for two acres and a half of accommodations upon y^e s^d land."

"Six score acres of third Division of Upland more or less North East from Merrie's Pond Bounded with a white Oak & a black Oak by y^e s^d Pond & two white Oaks at y^e north. Also three Parcells of Second Division of Meadow two Pcells of it Joining unto Merrie's Creek at y^e East End of Merrie's Creek Pond & one parcell upon y^e Swamp lying in John Chinarees Third Division of Upland — All which Pcells are bounded round with upland & y^e other Pcell of it lying upon a Runn which runns into Merrie's Creek Pond near to y^e West End of my third Division of Upland and bounded round with Upland."

[Essex Deeds, 30, 85.]

After this transfer the town gave him a tract adjoining his farm and afterward permitted him to exchange some land:

"Laid out to Michaell Emerson Forty and four acres of up-land adjoining to his other land which he had of Robert Swan, bounded with a white oak between Thomas Lillford and him and with a black oak at the pond. One acre of Meadow in that land that is laid out to Mr. Ward, bounded with upland." [Date not given in town record.]

"December 14, 1663. Michael Emerson and Robert Emerson shall have liberty to lay down twenty or thirty acres of land, which is part of that they bought of Robert Swan, on the south side, and to take up as much as they lay down on the south west side of said land; George Browne and Robert Swan are chosen & appointed for to exchange and lay out the land now granted to the two Emersons."

The very imperfect way in which lands were surveyed at that period resulted in many misunderstandings; not strangely the bonds of the Emerson farm were so poorly defined that question arose as to whether their line did not include some of the "common" land; and they were obliged to pay for some which was found so fenced in accidentally.

Michael Emerson was a man of decision and ability. He was elected constable in 1659 and one piece of his writing* has come down in the files of Essex County court. A warrant had been placed in his hands and he endorsed on the back the following memorandum in clear chirography:

Besides the work of the court a constable had to collect "rates" or taxes and keep close personal accounts with the town. Michael Emerson filled other positions of responsibility. He had learned the trade of "cordwainer" or shoemaker, which then included a knowledge and skill covering all materials and work that entered into the trade. So he was chosen "sealer of leather," the officer who had authority to see that all sales of leather were made honestly, as to quality and quantity. He was appointed to "join with Newbury men to lay out and state the way between them and us" November 19, 1662. Was one of the surveyors of highways in 1695, his portion being that "between the Saw Mill river and the Great Plain." At that same town meeting he was elected one of the "tithing men," appointed to keep order in the place of worship, — pretty good evidence that he was a member of the church. The church records for the period of his residence in Haverhill have been lost, so that we cannot say with positiveness who were members, but this office is enough to base a strong presumption upon. He was once prosecuted for severely punishing his child, so sternly did he oppose what he believed to be wrong; all his children did credit to the family except Elizabeth, who again and again fell into disgrace. Mr. and Mrs. Emerson, however, enjoyed the respect of their neighbors, and were valuable helpers in promoting the advancement of the community in all good ways.

In addition to the lands which fell to him as a proprietor in the town's distributions, he bought lands of Robert Swan, George Corly, Peter Green and Thomas Davis. He gave to his oldest son, John, a tract of land in the conveyance of which we find a delightful piece of evidence of what has been presumed by more than one historian, but has never been openly proved in print before the present writing. We quote the essential portions of the deed.

Know all men by these presents that I Michael Emerson of y^e town of Haverhill in Essex county in y^e province of Massachusetts Bay in New England on y^e Consideration of that naturall love which I doe bear to my son John Emerson of Newbury in y^e same county doe freely give unto y^e said John Emerson my son all my right title and interest in that land & meadow land which my brother Robert and I bought of Robert Swanne lying by and ajoyning to a pond in Haverhill called Merry Creek Pond and three acres of meadow of that side of my Spicket meadow next to meadow now or formerly of John or Onisephory Marsh as also one third part of that meadow which I bought of Mathias Button in a meadow called Strong water meadow which land and meadow above said I vallue at Sixty pounds money & doe freely give y^e same & every part and parcel thereof with all & singular y^e priviledges thereof thereon or to all or any of them belonging or any wise appertaining, etc. . . .

Michael Emerson also conveyed lands to his son Jonathan — “two acres, most of it an apple orchard” — May 21, 1695; to sons Jonathan and Joshua, May 21, 1699, ten acres that he bought of Peter Green and Thomas Davis, and his Spicket meadow, eight acres, reserving to himself life use of his mansion house and four acres of the upland; then, June 3, 1715, “Michael Emmerson, cordwainer,” his usual description, conveyed to “my grandson Michael Emerson, now about six years of age, son of my own son Joshua Emerson,” 44 acres of land, adjoining land he had bought of Robert Swan, and some other lands; and he "personally appeared" before Justice Woodbridge and attested his signature November 24, 1715. This is the latest date at which we know of his activities; it would appear that he died soon after. He had been in active business life, as our records show, since 1651,—64 years,—and must have been upwards of eighty-five years of age when he bestowed this gift upon his namesake grandson.

Michael Emerson married April 1, 1657, Hannah, daughter of John and Mary (Satchwell) Webster. Her father was an early settler at Ipswich and a valuable citizen; after his death Mrs. Webster married second, John Emery. She had three brothers, Satchwells, who came to the same plantation and proved worthy men. Mrs. Hannah (Webster) Emerson had no holiday life; what with the cares of a large family, the waywardness of one child, another daughter's dreadful experiences, and the inevitable difficulties of pioneer life, she had heavy burdens; but she bore all well and left a name for worthy living. She survived her husband, but the time of her death is not known to us.

We present a verbatim copy of Michael Emerson's will; he did not write it, for his sight had failed so that he could not even see to write his name at its close, as we have good proof he had been able to do up to middle life; it was a day of very imperfect "helps to read," and many a man of that period whose writing is extant during his active years left a will signed with a mark because he could not see to pen his autograph. The date of the proving of the will is not endorsed on it nor do we find any other record of the fact; but from references to him as deceased a little later it may be properly inferred that it was taken into court (after Mr. Emerson's death) near the close of the year 1715.

The foregoing will shows that Hannah, wife of Michael Emerson, was living in July, 1709; we have no record of her death.

Children:

- i. Hannah², one of the most famous women of early New England, was b. at Haverhill Dec. 23, 1657; m. Dec 3, 1677, Thomas Duston. She was captured by the Indians in one of their attacks on the settlement, March 15, 1697, taken from her bed with her infant of 6 days, and compelled to march with her captors. Seeing her child dashed to death against a tree; worn with long marching and cruelties, after going with the Indians for two weeks she and Mrs. Neff and a boy, Samuel Lennerson, rose in the night, killed and scalped ten Indians and made their way home through intolerable hardships. She carried the scalps to Boston and was paid the regular bounty. Her deed was one of the chief means of checking the cruelties of the Indians, showing them that "weak women" would meet their atrocities in kind. She was at no other time in her life found lacking in the gentleness and peaceful character of woman; this deed was the product of maddening experience. Mr. Duston, who first tried unsuccessfully to induce Hannah to let him carry her to a place of safety when he saw the savages approaching, bent his energies to the saving of their nine children; and by keeping them running and firing back at the pursuing Indians, managed to get them all to a place of safety.

Children:

1. Hannah Duston, b. Aug. 22, 1678; m. Daniel Cheney, of Newbury.
 2. Elizabeth Duston, b. May 7, 1680; m. Dec. 27, 1698, Stephen Emerson.
 3. Mary Duston, b. Nov. 4, 1681; d. Oct. 18, 1696.
 4. Thomas Duston, b. Jan. 5, 1683.
 5. Nathaniel Duston, b. May 16, 1685.
 6. John Duston, b. Feb. 2, 1686-7; d. Jan. 28, 1689-90.
 7. Sarah Duston, b. July 4, 1688.
 8. Abigail Duston, b. Oct., 1690; m. Samuel Watts.
 9. Jonathan Duston, b. Jan. 15, 1691-2.
 10. Timothy Duston, b. Sept. 14, 1694.
 11. Mehitable Duston (twin with Timothy).
 12. Martha Duston, b. March 9, 1696-7; slain by the Indians.
- ii. John, b. July 30, 1659; d. Aug. 15, 1659.
- iii. Mary, b. Oct. 5, 1660; m. at Newbury Aug. 28, 1683, Hugh Matthews.

Children:

1. A daughter, b. July 18, 1685.
2. Judith Matthews, b. April ult. 1689.
3. Hugh Matthews, b. May 15, 1691.
4. Mary Matthews, bapt. May 18, 1701.
3. iv. John, b. March 18, 1661-2.
4. v. Samuel, b. Feb. 2, 1663-4.
- vi. Elizabeth, b. Jan. 26, 1665. Let the "mantle of charity cover" her history.
- vii. Abigail, b. Dec. 17, 1667; d. Dec. 31, 1667.
5. viii. Jonathan, b. Mar. 9, 1669-1670.
- ix. Abigail, b. Nov. 20, 1671; m. Nov. 30, 1693, Samuel Smith of Newbury.

Children:

1. Hannah Smith, b. Aug. 17, 1694.
2. Samuel Smith, b. May 1, 1696.
3. Jonathan Smith, b. Aug. 22, 1698.
4. Abigail Smith, b. May 8, 1700.
5. Mehitable Smith, b. Feb. 22, 1701-2.
6. Mary Smith, b. May 18, 1704.
7. Sarah Smith, bapt. June 2, 1706.
8. Nathaniel Smith, bapt. July 18, 1708.
9. Timothy Smith, bapt. June 10, 1711.
10. Susanna Smith, bapt. May 10, 1713.
- x. Judith, b. July 2, 1673; d. Sept. 8, 1673.
- xi. Joshua, b. Mar. 2, 1675-6; d. Mar. 26, 1676.
- xii. Ruth, b. May 8, 1676; d. Aug. 28, 1677.
- xiii. Judith, b. Nov. 7, 1677.
6. xiv. Joshua, b. Nov. 17, 1678.
- xv. Susanna, b. Apr. 30, 1680; d. May 8, 1680.

2. ROBERT EMERSON, born in England probably about the year 1630; came to this country at a time not on record here, but before January 4, 1658, when he was married at Rowley, Massachusetts, to Ann (Anne), daughter of Thomas and Jane Grant. It is known that Thomas Grant came from England to this country before the year 1638, as a fellow passenger testified (Essex Probate Court, July 20, 1698). He died about 1643 and his widow had an allotment of land in Rowley; on the death of her son John Grant in 1700, Anne Emerson, as a sister of John, received a share of that land.

Robert Emerson joined with his brother Michael in 1661, in the purchase of a large farm in Haverhill from Robert Swan, as already stated.

The mention of his name after Michael's gives the impression that he was younger, as does the later date of his marriage; but no record extant shows what his age was. He was of sufficient education to keep accounts in the office of constable, to which the town elected him in 1679. He was also made one of the selectmen in 1671 and again in 1676, 1678 and 1687. He was respectfully regarded by his fellow citizens, as is incidentally shown by the following record:

"February 22, 1686-7. Robert Emerson openly moved for to know by whom the bridge over the Fishing river at his house is to be made. In answer to it the selectmen are ordered to take effectual care about the matter proposed."

Robert Emerson was a member of the church as shown by his becoming a "freeman" of the colony April 29, 1668. He is not described in legal documents as having a trade; seems to have been simply a farmer.

He bought an acre and a half of meadow of Obadiah Ayer May 17, 1669; one acre of meadow of Elizabeth Linfurth October 29, 1673; 20 acres of land by the Fishing river of John Williams, June 12, 1674; and 3 acres more of meadow January 28, 1679, of Peter Ayer.

Thus he owned considerable in addition to his half interest in the "farm" which his brother and he held in common.

He made his will June 3, 1694, and died the 25th day of the same month. Though he had been in the habit of writing in earlier years he was able only to make his mark when sealing his will. Age and poor optical helps compelled many to do so. The widow died by drowning July 28, 1718.

The will seems to have been penned by one of the witnesses, Joseph Johnson. It was proved in court July 23, 1694. The Inventory, taken on the 5th day of July, 1694, mentions that Robert Emerson died "the 25 of June 1694"; it was presented by "Anna Emerson and Thomas Emerson, executors," July 23, 1694. Both of them died before completing the settlement of the estate, and Joseph Emerson was appointed administrator; he gave bonds March 14, 1719.

Anne, widow of Robert Emerson, made her will December 21, 1708; it was proved May 4, 1719. She mentioned that she had some property which had come from the estate of her deceased brother John Grant, of Rowley, beside that left her by her husband Robert Emerson, deceased. She bequeathed all to her daughters Elizabeth and Lydia and her sons Joseph and Benjamin.

SECOND GENERATION

SECOND GENERATION

3. JOHN² EMERSON (Michael¹), born at Haverhill March 18, 1661-2; settled at Newbury; married first, about 1689 Judith, daughter of Daniel and Sarah (Bayley) Cheney, born at Newbury September 6, 1669; November 29, 1698, her husband received her portion of the estate of her father. He married second, at Newbury, November 2, 1710, Hannah Poor.

He is called in Newbury records "Lieutenant Emerson." His father gave him a tract of land at Haverhill July 11, 1712, and he purchased other tracts there and in Newbury. He and Hannah, his wife, sold land to his brother Jonathan February 15, 1714-5. John Emerson, of Newbury, Joseph Emerson and Nathan Simons,* of Haverhill, divided certain Haverhill lands September 23, 1717. A portion of his lands he sold to his son Samuel in 1731, and still another portion he gave to his son John in 1738.

He died at Newbury March 6, 1745; said in town records to have been 88 years old, in church records "aged 85 years."

Children:

11. i. John³, b. June 25, 1690.
ii. Daniel, b. Jan. 15, 1692-3.
iii. Benjamin, b. Mar. 2, 1695-6.

4. SAMUEL² EMERSON (Michael¹), born at Haverhill February 2, 1663-4; married December 14, 1687, Judith, daughter of John and (probably Jane Peasley) Davis, of

* Nathan Symons bought that share of Robert Emerson's land of Mary, daughter of Thomas, Robert's son, in 1714.

Haverhill and Dover, N. H., who survived him. He was apprenticed to John Simmons and gave testimony in a suit of his "master" March 23, 1680-1. (Essex Court Files.) After a few years' residence at Haverhill he bought of Jonathan Meder, November 14, 1697, land in Dover, N. H., — "on the Oyster River," another tract on the west side of the Back River, and removed to that place. He was a selectman, constable, deacon and afterward "ruling elder" of the church, captain of a foot company on the north side of Oyster River May 12, 1718. His wife was taken captive by the Indians in one of their raids and held in captivity five years. He and his wife joined in the organizing of the church in Durham in 1718, and he was its first deacon. He bought land in Durham, N. H., in 1732 and conveyed it to his son Solomon in 1739.

He made his will March 13, 1739, and it was proved August 31, 1743. He gave his property to his wife Judith, children Timothy, Solomon, Abigail, wife of Robert Thompson, the children of his deceased son Micah namely: Samuel, Hannah and Abigail, and the children of deceased daughter Hannah, viz., Samuel and Job Clemons.

Children:

- 16. vii. Solomon, b. about 1709.

5. JONATHAN² EMERSON (Michael¹), born at Haverhill March 9, 1669-70; married June 15, 1699, Hannah, daughter of John and Sarah (Pengry) Day, born at Ipswich January 16, 1679. She and her husband gave to their sons Nathaniel and Richard land in Methuen that had descended to her from Robert Clements to Mr. Pengry of Ipswich and from him to John Day, Hannah's father. She was a member of the church as by earliest list extant.

Jonathan had lands from his father as already described. His house was on the south side of the present Webster Street, near Primrose; was one of the "garrison houses" in the Indian war times. He and John Swan had liberty from the town March 7, 1704-5, to build and maintain a grist mill upon the Little River between the West bridge and Sergt. Joseph Kingsbury's land. He was a constable and selectman at times.

He died August 19, 1736. His will, dated August 7, 1736, was proved September 13 following. Provided very fully for his wife's support; gave lands to sons John, Nathaniel, Timothy, Richard and Nehemiah; small sums of money to sons Samuel and Jonathan because he had previously made gifts to them; "my son Moses to be carried through the colledge, and if he comes well out to have one hundred pounds to buy him a library"; money to daughters. The estate was appraised at £2149-2-5.

- v. Timothy, b. Jan. 6, 1696-7.

8. JOSEPH² EMERSON (Robert¹), born at Haverhill February 26, 1669; married first, July 16, 1690, Martha Toothaker. She was a member of the First Church as by its earliest list extant. She died January 14, 1725-6. He married second, May 19, 1726, Hannah, daughter of Thomas Ross and widow of Nathaniel Patten, of Billerica, born March 31, 1679.

He resided at Haverhill, carpenter and millwright by trade. Was "impressed" into service and served in Andros' expedition at Pemaquid in 1688 and 1689. Was a highway surveyor in 1704. Gave his son Joseph 50 acres of land March 2, 1719-1720. "Sergt. Joseph Emerson" was chosen one of the overseers of the poor the first time that office was filled in Haverhill, in 1730.

He made his will November 3, 1749, speaking of himself as "aged"; it was proved September 8, 1755; gave to his wife Hannah what she brought with her at marriage and comfortable maintenance; made his son Joseph executor and heir with Thomas, David, James, Jabez, daughter Mary Kimball, and the children of his deceased children Robert and Daniel Emerson and Hannah Patten (her name is given in the copy of the will in Essex Probate records as "Hannah Dent").

THIRD GENERATION

THIRD GENERATION

11. JOHN³ EMERSON (John², Michael¹), born at Newbury June 25, 1690; married Elizabeth Hill.

He resided at Haverhill where his father gave him land. He and his brother Samuel sold to their father for £200 June 20, 1731, their rights in the land which had come through their mother "Jude Cheney." He died before June 25, 1733, when his widow administered on his estate. Philip Haseltine was appointed guardian of Joseph and John September 30, 1734. The widow received her "thirds" of his 41 acres of land and the personal estate December 24, 1742, and the remainder was set off for the "only" surviving "son" Joseph, who was to pay £25-16-8 to "his only sister," Judith Hadley.

He married third, Lydia, daughter of Jeremiah and Elizabeth (Adams) Burnham, of Durham, who survived him and married second Joshua Ballard.

He studied at Harvard College; his father, in his will in 1736, ordered that he be carried through and that "if he come well out" a hundred pounds should be given him for a library. Whether he used his liberal education in any ministerial position is not known to the writer; but he was "school master" at Milton, Mass., 1738-1746 (except two years).

He was residing at Haverhill in 1751, when he bought a house and land of Hubbard Stevens in Durham, N. H., "between the Country Pathway and the Mast Pathway"; in 1759 he bought another tract with a barn and orchard thereon "about half a mile from the Falls meetinghouse, on the East side of the road that leads from Durham Falls to Dover," and made his home there. He was received to the Dover church from that at Milton (Mass.) June 18, 1769.

On the opening of the Revolution he did most excellent service as a member of Durham's Committee of Safety from 1774 onward, and as the commissary (handling all sorts of supplies) for the entire force of New Hampshire troops; his reports and accounts are given in New Hampshire Revolutionary Rolls.

He died at Philadelphia, Pa., in 1778. His estate was administered upon by his widow Lydia September 10, 1779. The inventory mentions a negro boy, furniture, cattle, clothing, 22 bound books and 20 pamphlets, etc., beside his lands; appraised at £309-8-4, "valued as money was in the year 1774." His son Edward W. Emerson conveyed all his rights in his father Moses Emerson's lands and estate to Lydia Emerson, of Durham, widow, May 2, 1780. "Abigail, formerly wife of Moses Emerson, of Durham, N. H., Esq." died, and her estate in Ipswich, inherited from her father, was administered upon by John Kinsman who gave bonds March 23, 1780, and sold the land in 1782.

60. PETER⁴ EMERSON (John³, Jonathan², Michael¹), born at Haverhill July 17, 1723; married first, at Haverhill, in June, 1744, Miriam, daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah Marble, born there, baptized September 19, 1725; she was admitted to the West Church in May, 1753, and died in 1759 or 1760. He married second, at time and place unknown to the writer, but probably in the summer of 1760, a wife named Mary, whom an early copyist of Haverhill records called "Stanton," who died at Windham, N. H., September 12, 1822, "widow Emerson, in the 96th year of her age."

The history of Windham states that Peter Emerson served in the French and Indian war with Braddock's army; married his (second) wife there and then returned to Haverhill; no other evidence of this episode has been found by the writer; but it is of record that "Peter Emerson of Haverhill served in Maj. Richard Saltonstall's company, train band, April 14, 1757"; also served in the Colonial army "for the reduction of Canada" in Capt. Mooer's company, Col. Bagley's regiment, April 14 to November 4, 1758, and was allowed for 160 miles' travel home. He was one of Haverhill's "Minute men," trained according to a town vote in April, 1775, and marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775, in Capt. James Sawyer's company, Col. James Frye's regiment; was in camp at Cambridge May 17, 1775 and paid in June following; had bounty coat or equivalent in money December 26, 1775. Thus he did both Colonial and Revolutionary service. He removed to Windham, N. H., about 1784, having held and sold considerable land in Haverhill and Salem, N. H. He sold his Haverhill homestead of 37 acres to Caleb Greenleaf for £223-10, March 26, 1784; bought the Abraham Annis place in Windham and was settled there February 7, 1785, when he sold the rest of his Haverhill lands. He was a citizen of prominence. The Windham place is still owned by descendants, his great grandson, Mr. William Lansing Emerson, residing there at present (1913).

Peter Emerson died at Windham, N. H., October 27, 1811; his gravestone stands in the old burying ground not far from his homestead, quaint in its carvings and inscriptions, carrying, however, an error of the workman in the statement that Peter was then "Aged 79 years," when he was ten years older.

Children, the first ten of Miriam, the remainder of Mary:

- i. Jesse⁵, "of Mirriam, wife of Peter Emerson," bapt. in Mar., 1744-5; d. young.
